

EHDS, for a Data-driven Health Transformation

The European Parliament has just adopted the European Health Data Space (EHDS), a key pillar of the European Health Union. The agreement reached is of utmost importance for better healthcare for citizens, for transformative data-driven research and innovation and the development of a more personalised medicine.

The conference “EHDS, for a data-driven health innovation” is organised in the framework of the Belgium Presidency of the Council of the European Union. The panelists are top representatives of European Institutions, industry, academia, healthcare and policymaking. We invite you to join the event and the discussion with leading experts in the field to explore the challenges and opportunities of the EHDS.

The event is organised as a hybrid event and the online participation information will be sent after registration before the event.
